MEMORY IN FISH.

Striking Results Shown In a Test With Gray Perch.

Even the fishes of the sea have pictures on memory's wall. Experiments have been made with several fishes as to their faculties for remembering, but the most striking results have been obtained with the gray perch, which lives chiefly on small silvery hued sardines. Some of these were taken and colored red and were then put into the tank where the perch was with several silver colored sardines. Of course the normal sardines were at once seized and eaten, but it was not until hungry that the perch made a tentative meal of one of the red colored victims.

On recognizing the sardine flavor, however, he promptly demolished the remainder. Later the perch devoured the sardines irrespective of color, thus showing not only traces of a memory, but also the power to differentiate color.

Subsequently sardines colored red and blue were placed in the tank together with the silver ones. The same scene was repeated, the blue sardines not being attacked until the others were eaten and hunger compelled investigation of the newcomers. After this introduction the perch ate the sardines of all three types without any difficulty.

Some spines of the sea nettle were then fastened to the blue sardines. These were at once avoided by the perch, which promptly got out of the way of the newcomers. This showed traces of memory, as the results of contact with the sea nettle were shown and recognized.—Chicago Tribune.

THE WARM BREATH.

Why It Comes Out Cold Through Partly Closed Lips.

When one breathes out used air from the lungs through the wide open mouth the breath has the same temperature as the body, 98.6 degrees F., and frequently on a cold day we warm our fingers by breathing on them. If, however, we blow the breath vigorously from the mouth the temperature of the breath appears to be much lower than when breathed gently and with open mouth and is decidedly cooling in its effect, writes J. Gordon Ogden in Popular Mechanics.

The latter fact is due to the well known principle established by Lord Kelvin, that a compressed gas upon expanding will absorb heat. The breath, compressed by being forced to pass through the small orifice made by the puckered lips, immediately expands upon being admitted to the outer air and to do so must take up heat.

This is also the identical principle involved in the manufacture of artificial ice. Ammonia gas is first compressed into a liquid and then liberated into a network of tubes surrounding large sheet iron boxes filled with distilled water. The liquid ammonia, set free at one end of the pipe system, begins at once to evaporate, and by the time it has scampered through the long iron tubes it has become gas. As we have learned, to change a liquid to a gas requires heat. This heat is taken from the iron piping, an excellent conductor, which in turn robs the water of its heat, thus freezing it.

The Mexican Mosquero.

The finest fly traps are not in it with a little Mexican spider named mosquero. Natives gather from oak trees a branch covered with this spider's nests and hang it up in the house. The spiders begin on the flies by wholesale. Mosquero nests are very tidy, pretty and old maidish. A lot of tiny beetles make their home therein with the spiders. The beetles live on fly legs, the crumbs and scraps from the mosquero's table, and pay for their bed and board by keeping the web house perfectly clean and refined, eating everything and dropping no litter in the Mexican professional gentleman's house. Mrs. Mosquero is a very quiet, orderly lady who never wanders from her own fireside or strays from her own back yard, but when a fly calls round she gets very busy with her spider knives and saws.—New York Press.

Lovers of Sports.

The Anglo-Saxons love sport. No matter in what part of the world they are found the spirit is strong among them. Wherever the restless Anglo-Saxon dominates the love of sport is dominant. The Americans are—at least the most of them—descendants of this virile race, and nowhere is the love of sport so much exhibited as in this country. Our people are patrons of horse racing, of baseball, of golf, of football, of all out of door sports as no other people. The English are great sportsmen, but not to the extent that Americans are, for the reason that the opportunities are greater here.—Nashville American.

Bad Advice.

Friend—What's worrying you? Manager—The prima donna of my company refuses to sing oftener than twice a week. I am making only hundreds where I ought to be making thousands. Friend—I'd settle that. If I were you I'd marry her. (A year passes.) Friend—My gracious, you look seedy! What's happened? Manager—I took your advice and married the prima donna, and now she won't sing at all.

Reciprocity.

There is one word which may serve as a rule of practice for one's life. That word is "reciprocity." What you do not wish done to yourself do not do to others.

Friendship—One soul in two bodies.—Pythagoras.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

The Explanation of the Automobile Driver and a Climax.

After the victim of the accident was carried to the sidewalk the automobile driver turned his machine and came back and explained how it happened with considerable warmth.

"This woman," he volubly remarked to the policeman, "was entirely to blame. She ran around from ahead of the street car and deliberately put herself in my way. After she had dodged the coal cart it was too late for me to stop. I couldn't tell which way she was going, and when I saw that she was dazed and foolish I jammed on the brakes and tried to pass to the left, but of course she had to run the same way, and the consequence was that in endeavoring to avoid a baby carriage with twins in it and an old man who was walking with a crutch I suppose I must have hit her. But I wasn't going more than two miles an hour, and any woman who would dodge around in that foolish way and lose her head shouldn't be permitted to go on the streets without a bunch of guardians."

The policeman nodded.

"Come over to the sidewalk," he said, "and take a look at her."

So the driver went to the curb with the officer and looked at the unfortunate creature who had so actively contributed to her own disaster.

And, lo, it was only a dressmaker's dummy that had fallen off the rear of a delivery wagon! — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

HIS ONLY REGRET.

The Sorrow That Consumed Bichat When He Was Dying.

Over a century ago died Xavier Bichat, the famous physician and anatomist, author of "L'Anatomie Generale." He probably dissected more human corpses than any other man in the world's history. He established a record when he opened 625 bodies during one winter.

Of his nerve a tale is told. When he lay on his deathbed he called his colleagues to him and said: "Dear friends, I am done, but what comforts me is the fact that my case is a remarkable one. I have had unusual symptoms for some days which I have analyzed. They have greatly surprised me." The doctors sought to reassure him. He answered that he was under no illusion with regard to himself. "I shall die fairly satisfied with my life and go to the grave with only one regret, one great sorrow."

"What is that?" he was asked. "I am distressed that after death I cannot dissect my own body. I could, I am certain, have made some beautiful scientific discoveries." Then he sank back, murmuring: "I must not think about it. It won't bear thinking of."—Westminster Gazette.

The Pearl Hunters' Superstition.

The pearl hunters of Borneo and the adjacent islands have a peculiar superstition. When they open shells in search of pearls they take every ninth find, whether it be large or small, and put it into a bottle, which is kept corked with a dead man's finger. The pearls in the vial are known as "seed pearls" or "breeding pearls," and the native Borneose firmly believes that they will reproduce their kind. For every pearl put into the vial two grains of rice are thrown in for the pearls to "feed upon." Some whites in Borneo believe as firmly in the superstition as the natives do, and almost every but along the coast has its "dead finger" bottle, with from nine to fifty seed pearls and twice that number of rice grains carefully and evenly stowed away among them. That no results follow does not dim the superstition.

The Wonderful Toad Bone.

All early writers attribute wonderful qualities to toads and frogs and the various parts of their bodies. Pliny believed, for instance, that if a toad was brought into the midst of a mob or other large and unruly concourse of people "silence would instantly prevail." A small bone found in the right side of toads "of the proper age" was also believed to have powers over the various elements. "By throwing this bone into a vessel of boiling water," says Pliny, "it will immediately cool it, the water refusing to boil again until the bone has been removed. To find this bone, expose the dead toad on an ant hill. When the ants have eaten her all away except the bones, take each bone separately and drop it into boiling water. Thus may the wondrous toad bone be discovered."

An Ancient Astronomer.

About 500 B. C. Anaxagoras of Ionia was born. When he "grew up in wisdom" he was the first to teach the course and cause of both solar and lunar eclipses and to give his followers rules whereby they could distinguish planets from fixed stars. He was punished for declaring that the sun was not a god.

Another Way.

Student—I want some information about the bronzes. I suppose I had better write to the keeper? Attendant—Yes, miss, or you might see him verbally!—London Punch.

The Degrees.

"What are the degrees of a stingy man's married life?"

"I suppose they are matrimony, parsimony, testimony and alimony."—Baltimore American.

A crowd is not company, and faces are but a gallery of pictures and talk but a tinkling cymbal where there is no love.—Bacon.

MARCO POLO'S BOOK.

It Gave Columbus the Idea For His Voyage of Discovery.

Mediaeval Europe knew but very little of eastern and northeastern Asia. Many of the most learned cosmographers of the time taught that Asia stretched eastward indefinitely, and no one had heard that it had an eastern coast washed by the ocean. It was seriously taught that eastern Asia was a land of vast swamps, inhabited by monster serpents and dragons. This was the opinion that still prevailed up to within 200 years of the time of Columbus.

At this time two Venetian merchants of the name of Polo went on a vast trading expedition to the uttermost parts of Asia. They were gone many years. Upon their return the son of one of them, a young man named Marco Polo, wrote out a full account of their travels, described the empire of the grand khan (the Chinese emperor) and revealed the fact that Asia was bounded on the east by a vast ocean. He described this eastern coast minutely, with all its vast cities and its wealth of precious stones and spices.

It was from reading this book that the imagination of Columbus was fired, and he conceived the bold idea of reaching this eastern coast of Asia by sailing toward the west around the earth.

So when he discovered Cuba he had not a doubt that he had landed upon the coast of Asia and that he looked upon the same scenes that Marco Polo had gazed upon 200 years before.

HEIGHT OF ELEPHANTS.

In the Majority of Cases It Is Under Eight Feet.

The average term of an elephant's life, although there is no precise information on the point, is seventy or eighty years. The elephant is not in full vigor and strength till thirty-five. The most ready way of forming an approximate idea of the age is by the amount of turnover of the upper edge of the ear. In young animals, sometimes up to the age of eight or nine years, the edge is quite straight. It, however, then begins to turn over, and by the time the animal is thirty the edges lap over to the extent of an inch, and between this age and sixty this increases to two inches or slightly more.

Extravagant ideas are held as to the height of an elephant. Such a thing as an elephant measuring ten feet at the shoulder does not exist in India or Burma. Sanderson, an admitted authority on the subject, said the largest male he ever met with measured nine feet ten inches and the tallest female eight feet five inches. The majority of elephants, however, are below eight feet, and an animal rarely reaches nine feet, the female being slightly shorter than the male. The carcass of an elephant seven feet four inches tall weighed in portions gave a total weight of 3,000 pounds, so an elephant weighing two tons should be common enough. The skin was about three-fourths of an inch thick.

Kind Words Mean Much.

Cultivate kindness of heart; think well of your fellow men; look with charity upon the shortcomings in their lives. Do a good turn for them as opportunity offers and, finally, don't forget the kind word at the right time. How much a word of kindness, encouragement or appreciation means to others sometimes and how little it costs us to give it. We do not need to wait for some special occasion. When calamity overtakes a friend words of sympathy and encouragement are offered sincerely enough, yet in certain respects as a matter of course. Such an occasion calls for expression on our part, and we naturally respond. But why wait for occasion? Why not speak the kind word when there is no special occasion?

The Roman Senate.

The Roman senate had for many centuries but 300 members, selected from the patricians, or aristocrats. The office of senator was for life. The body was practically supreme in matters of legislation and administration. The majority of votes decided a question, and the order in which the voting took place was invariably determined by rank, beginning with the president and ending with the quaestors. The senators wore on their tunics a broad purple stripe—a badge of distinction, like a modern decoration—and they had the exclusive right of precedence at theaters, the amphitheater and all other public gatherings.

What She Wanted.

"Are you fond of etchings?" asked the young man who had taken the hostess' pretty niece down to supper.

"As a general thing, yes," she answered, looking up into his eyes with an engaging frankness that threatened havoc to his heart, "but," she added hastily as he started to say something pretty, "not any tonight, thank you; it is rather late. A small piece of cake will be sufficient."

Prima Facie Evidence.

The late Lord Morris on one occasion gave a characteristic illustration of the meaning of "prima facie evidence."

"If," he said to the jury, "you saw a man coming out of a public house wiping his mouth, that would be prima facie evidence that he had been having a drink."

Friendship.

False friendship, like the ivy, decays and ruins the walls it embraces, but true friendship gives new life and animation to the object it supports.

Choice of California Editors

FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON, President of the California Press Association and for eight years editor of the Berkeley Gazette, is one of several candidates who are out for the Republican nomination of State Printer at the primary election in August. The only thing that will handicap Richardson in the race is the endorsement of that band of political soreheads ycleped the Lincoln-Roosevelt League. That this is a misfortune we must admit but we trust Republican voters will overlook that episode and give him their support. Friend Richardson is in every way qualified for the office, being one of the leading editors of Northern California and practical printer of years experience. It seems too bad that he is in any way associated with the insurgent band, but we hasten to assure loyal Republicans that brother Richardson has a mind of his own and that they need have no fear in the event of his nomination and election that he will take program from the Lincoln-Roosevelt League bosses, even though they have had him endorsed by their programmed convention in the expectation of electing him and securing control of the State printing office for political purposes.

Appreciation Abroad.

The following good boost we copy from a recent number of the "Referee," a San Francisco weekly:

"Has any one here seen Kelly? What Kelly? Why John W. Kelly of Boyes' Hot Spring Mineral Water. To be sure Mr. Kelley is some booster, and the way he pushes his water to the front makes all of his contemporaries look like a lot of non-winners.

"John is one good fellow with a pleasant personality that makes one take a liking to John the first time out. The water that he handles needs no boosting as the medical properties that this splendid water contains is known the world over. Keep up the good work, John. A good man handling a high class article always takes the lead in a long race."

Mrs. H. C. Whiting, who is spending the summer at Boyes' Springs, drove a pretty decorated buggy in the Fourth of July parade here. One of the features was an especially and pretty designed lap robe of crepe with the national colors well displayed.

For Sheriff of Sonoma County

Jack Smith, incumbent, will again be a candidate on the Republican ticket for Sheriff at the coming fall election. In another column he announces himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for that office at the August primaries and as he is the logical nominee of his party he will have no opposition. During his four years incumbency Sheriff Smith has discharged the duties of the office faithfully and well and is entitled to a renomination and election. He is very popular down this way and will poll a heavy vote at the primary election.

Carnival Notes

The Indian booth on the plaza took first prize. The Indian workers were energetic to the full degree and were most successful financially.

In looking at the Indian feature of the parade here on July 4th, many persons were not aware that so notable a little personage as Master Edward Marks and his celebrated little Shetland pony from the Portola parade, San Francisco, were a part of it. Master Edward was Juvenile Ade to the Portola Grand Marshal and rode the same Shetland pony at the head of the procession.

Old Pioneers.

Humphrey Hill and D. D. Davisson, who are now residing in other sections of the state, were here Monday and participated in the grand parade. Both gentlemen are pioneer residents of old Sonoma, having came here in the days of '49. Mr. Davisson is an uncle of Cashier Jesse Burris of the Sonoma Valley Bank, and Mr. Hill is a brother of the late Senator Wm. McPherson Hill and an uncle of Robt. P. Hill of Eldridge.

THE PASSING OF A PIONEER RANCHER

John O'Brien, For Many Years a Resident of this Valley, is Dead at the Age of Eighty Years.

John O'Brien, the pioneer rancher of the Sonoma Valley, is dead. He passed away on his farm a few miles west of Sonoma on Monday last at the age of 80 years.

The deceased came to this valley nearly half a century ago and engaged in stock-raising and general farming in which he amassed a comfortable fortune.

He was well-known all over the southern part of the county. He was an aggressive man who stuck up and fought for his rights and being guided by this spirit is accredited during his life-time of having more suits at law in our courts than any man in the county and he invariably won them.

The deceased, who was a widower, his wife having died many years ago, leaves three daughters, Miss Nellie O'Brien, Mrs. Kate Carriger and Mrs. M. Gough, to whom he leaves a large estate, the bulk of which, however, was deeded to them a number of years ago.

The deceased was born in Limerick, Ireland, eighty years ago but came to the United States when a young man.

The funeral took place Thursday from his late residence, funeral services being held in St Francis Church, where a solemn requiem mass was said by Father Comerford. The interment was in the Catholic cemetery.

The Handiwork of an Artist.

The collection of the California Missions being embroidered by Mrs. H. E. Boyes is a most beautiful and unique one. The subjects and accompanying border designs are in solid embroidery of the most exquisite shading and here the handiwork of the artist is very manifest, for Mrs. Boyes is indeed a close observer of nature's tints and has reproduced them in the grapes of the Mission Santa Barbara, the poppies of the Mission Dolores and Sonoma Mission, the violets of the Belfry at Capistrono Mission, the gorgeous purple thistles of San Luis Rey and the pepper foliage and berries of San Gabriel. In addition to the above Mission subjects Mrs. Boyes added a border of redwoods and chapparel peas to a California bear pillow which is strikingly original and most effective.

The collection will be framed when completed and is prized very highly by Captain Boyes.

Distinguished Visitors.

Hon. Duncan E. McKinlay, Congresman of the Second District, and State Senator Walter F. Price were in town on the afternoon of the Fourth taking in the various booths in the Plaza and shaking hands with many Sonoma friends.

Kicked by a Horse.

Mrs. Agnes Duhring Ryland, while viewing the Fourth of July parade on one of our street corners, was severely kicked by a horse. The injury, which consisted of a larcerated wound of the right leg, was treated by Dr. Francis Leix.

Now is the time to lay concrete sidewalks. See Trudgen, the stone mason, about it.

THE CARNIVAL OF NATIONS A GREAT EVENT.

The Woman's Club Successfully Carries Out a Wonderous Undertaking

In the land of make-believe we have reveled but the cosmpolitan devotees of mirth have become once more the prosaic children of to-day and the Carnival of Nations is but a memory. It was a success as we rate success nowdays, but why talk of dollars now for we will long dwell on that, and memory of the history of this financial impetus will be kept green as the lawns in the plaza itself for it was a wonderous undertaking and wonderously did the Woman's Club answer to it. The response of the call to the nations of the earth to come to the mythical land of Lunitanic and there hold high carnival was instantaneous and contagious. The carnival spirit took hold of housewives, bridge players, suffragettes and grandmothers.

They in-turn electrified their immediate friends and families until the entire valley was agitated and the air fairly sizzled with the spirit of fun. Fond dreams and long cherished hopes of the plaza, which is to bloom from the gold and silver seed, was the motif which stirred them and every letter which went out from Sonoma and every post card which has been going through the mails for the past month has extended an invitation to join the celebrators of celebrations in the plaza on the Fourth. Did they come? Listen to the receipts.

One never had a more delightful way of spending time and money on the continent. Cook's tourists and other tourists were there galore and Germany, Holland, Italy, England, France, Japan, Spain and America were visited with side trips to the Sunny South, the war dances of the Pawnee Indians and mystic Queen of the Gypsies.

The German Schlossen where held forth the gracious frau and pretty fraulein was the mecca of all the travelers, and the aroma of the delicious coffee and kitchen lured many a hungry wanderer.

In quaint Holland the magnificent braids of the maids roped many a spectator into patronizing these vivacious servers of chocolate and spicy cakes, pretzels and and all went away with souvenirs of the land of dykes and windmills.

Caruso and Tetrazzini would have envied the patrons of the Italian booth, for here were raviolis and chicken bordelaise with which even a king or queen of song might have regaled their appetites and been inspired to a new triumph in Rigoletto or Lucia.

England welcomed the excursionists, too, and in so royal a manner that Roosevelt himself should not have missed it and had he been there the crispy meat pies and roast beef would have put to flight all those ideas on Egypt.

La Belle France was the rendezvous of all true lovers of gayety and madame and m'lle sold bon bons and punch with true Parisian vivacity.

"Happy Japan," the land of bloom and blossom, was the artistic success. Its tea house of bamboo, screens, flowers and Geisha girls was the admiration of all visitors.

The rose of the rancho bloomed in the garden of Spain and the tuneful guitar and sweet strains of La Peloma led the way to the typical tomales and tobasco dishes of the Senora. Here was found the true spirit of the old Sonoma—hospitality and ease, romance and music. Dark eyes sparkled and fans coquetted at the compliments showered upon this enticing picture of the Spanish-California of long ago.

Uncle Sam, stately colonial dames and sprightly George M. Cohen girls made the "American Idea" the pride of the nations, and the quantity of ice cream and novelties sold was substantial evidence of what hustlers these Yankees be.

The Sunny South of ebony negroes could have cooked a possum fit for Bill Taft, while Jack Johnson sent his regrets from Reno at the mention of that chicken.

The Indians enlivened the entire conclave and their picturesque dress with its feathers and war paint thrilled all excursionists to the wild west show with simulated horror and genuine appreciation. Chief, squaw and papoose were all in camp and kept the settlers moving along the plains at a cautious gait while ambushes were frequently reported.

The Queen of the Gypsies startled all with her physic powers and the past, present and future were unfolded to scores of visitors to the card decked tent in the forest of Roumania.

Lunitania was a brilliant land. The palace of justice was illuminated each night and the revelers flitted about the lights like substantial moths disporting themselves.

The days were equally as gay and the races on the Fourth and the ball that evening were the crowning features of the grand finale which marked the passing of of this notable event in the social history of Sonoma.

The Board accepted the booths, which will be converted into summer houses and cared for by the club women. The dance platform, however, was not accepted as it would be too expensive to roof in. A letter of thanks was then unanimously voted the Woman's Club by the Trustees.

Genial Jack Ford Married.

Genial Jack Ford, Chief Deputy County Clerk, has surprised his many friends throughout the county by deserting the ranks of batchelordom and taking unto himself a bride. In these days of the "new woman" Jack was supposed to be invulnerable to the charms of the fair sex and was looked upon by his intimate friends as having entered the ranks of confirmed batchelordom with its high signs and all that sort of thing. But it was simply an illusion. He has fallen down and is now harnessed up in the matrimonial yoke for the rest of his life.

On Wednesday last, in San Francisco, Mr. Ford led to the altar Miss Margaret Keating, a charming and popular girl of Marin county. The wedding was a quiet one. The bride's family for many years resided at Lakeville, which was the groom's home previous to taking up his residence in Santa Rosa eight or ten years ago, and he had known his bride since she was a little girl.

After a brief honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Ford will make their home in Santa Rosa.

City Hall Flag at Half Mast.

Much comment was occasioned upon our streets Tuesday when it was discovered that the flag which was floating over the City Hall on July Fourth was at half mast all the following day. The janitor in attempting to lower the flag was frustrated by the halyards, which refused to work after the stars and stripes had been lowered half-way down the pole and try as he may he could neither lower or raise the flag. Late in the day City Trustee Wagnon, whose attention had been drawn to the matter, succeeded in untangling the halyards and lowered the flag.

VALIDITY OF SEWER BOND ELECTION.

There Was a Slight Irregularity in Declaring the Result and Another Election May Have to Be Held.

It was brought out at the meeting of the Board of City Trustees last Wednesday evening that a slight irregularity in the proceedings governing the sewer bond election, held last month, may invalidate the whole business.

It will be recollected that the election, which resulted in favor of a bond issue of $20,000 for a sewer system, which was carried almost unanimously, took place on the last Saturday in May. The following Monday the Board should have met, canvassed the returns and declared the result. As that day was a legal holiday---Memorial Day---the attorney for the Board decided to wait until the following Wednesday, which was the regular meeting night of the Trustees, and take up the matter of the bond election then. This was done, the returns of the election being canvassed and the result declared.

This may have been a fatal mistake and may lead to invalidating the election and the holding of another. It is now claimed that the Monday following the election being a legal holiday the Board should have met on the following day---Tuesday---and not on Wednesday to declare the result. However that may be, the whole proposition at this time is up in the air and it rests with the bond lawyers as to whether or not it is safe for their clients to take a chance on the irregularity.

City Attorney Poppe appeared before the Trustees Wednesday night and stated that the irregularity of canvassing the votes of the bond election and declaring the result of the same by the Trustees may not prevent the selling of the bonds, but would advise that the bonds be not printed until the matter was more thoroughly looked into. Personally, attorney Poppe did not think the irregularity would necessitate the holding of another bond election, but at this time was not prepared to so advise.

The whole matter will come up for consideration before the Trustees at an adjourned meeting to be held on Monday, July 25th.

THE COLORADO DESERT.

Its Stunted Tree Forms and Its Petrified Forests.

In places in the Colorado desert are stream beds where perhaps once in several years heavy rains in distant mountains will cause water to flow for a short time. In these dry water courses several varieties of stunted tree forms are often found. The desert willow, which resembles the willow with which we are familiar, though smaller in size; the val verde, or green tree, a tree which is a bright green from trunk to tip of limb in every twig, and the ironwood, so dense in fiber that it turns an ax's edge, are the principal varieties. They are rarely above twenty feet high and, like all desert vegetation, have not a leaf.

They are apparently outcasts from the two great tree divisions, deciduous and citrus, for they have leaves neither to lose nor to keep. These may be called the living dogs of the tree family. We will find here also the dead lions.

Not far from the mountain range we will come upon the remains of what were once extensive forests of gigantic trees, now turned to stone and lying as they fell centuries ago. The great trunks, perfect in grain, knot and bark fiber, cumber the ground in tangled confusion in those places which have been protected from the drifting sand, giving evidence that what is now a desert was once upon a time a tropical wilderness.—Travel Magazine.

RUB THE OTHER EYE.

And Let the One in Which the Bit of Cinder Lodges Alone.

Nine persons out of every ten with a cinder or any other foreign substance in the eye will instantly begin to rub it with one hand while hunting for a handkerchief with the other. This is all wrong. The right way is not to rub the eye with the cinder in it, but to rub the other as vigorously as you like.

A few months ago I was riding on the engine of a fast express. The engineer threw open the front window of the cab, and I caught a cinder in my eye, which gave me intense pain. I began to rub the eye desperately, when the engineer called to me:

"Let that eye alone and rub the other one."

Thinking he was chaffing me, I only rubbed the harder.

"I know the doctors think they know it all, but they don't, and if you will let that eye alone and work on the other one you will soon have the cinder out," shouted the engineer.

I did as he directed and soon felt the cinder down near the inner canthus and made ready to take it out.

"Let it alone and keep at the well eye," again shouted the engineer.

I did so for a minute longer, and then, looking into a small glass the engineer handed me, I saw the offender on my cheek. I have tried it many times since, always with success.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Where History Began.

Describing a visit to the tombs of the Egyptian kings, Albert Bigelow Paine in Harper's Weekly writes of "the splendid tomb of Amenophis II., of the eighteenth dynasty, who lived in the glory of Egypt, 1600 B. C., a warrior who slew seven Syrian chiefs with his own hand. The top of the sarcophagus is removed and is replaced by heavy plate glass. Just over the sleeper's face there is a tiny electric globe, and I believe one could never tire of standing there and looking at that quiet visage, darkened by age, but beautiful in its dignity, unmoved, undisturbed by the storm and stress of the fretful years. How long he has been asleep! The Israelites were still in bondage when he fell into that quiet doze, and for their exodus a century or two later he did not care. Hector and Achilles and Paris and the rest had not yet battled on the plains of Troy."

Moral Suasion and a Strap.

"She seems to have abandoned her moral suasion ideas relative to the training of children."

"She has."

"How did it happen?"

"Well, I was largely instrumental in bringing about the change. You see, she has no children of her own, and I grew weary of her constant preaching and theorizing, so I loaned her our Willie."

"Loaned her your boy?"

"Precisely. She was to have him a week on her solemn promise to confine herself entirely to moral suasion."

"Did she keep her promise?"

"She did, but at the expiration of the week she came to me with tears in her eyes and pleaded for permission to whale him just once."—New York Mail.

Confucius on Kingcraft.

"What is kingcraft?" demanded a disciple.

Confucius replied, "Food enough, troops enough and a trusting people."

"Were there no help for it which could be best spared of the three?"

"Troops," said the master.

"And were there no help for it which could be better spared of the other two?"

"Food," said the master. "From of old all men die, but without trust a people cannot stand."

Got It Mixed.

An amusing blunder was made in the case of a judicial declaration that certain resident magistrates "could no more state a case than they could write a Greek ode."

This was made to read that the magistrates "could no more state a case than they could ride a Greek goat."—London Scraps.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

"For God's Sake Do Something."

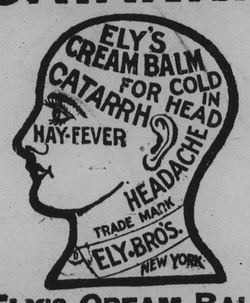

We have answered this cry in our new book "Fighting the Traffic in Young Girls" by Earnest A. Bell, U. S. District Attorney Sims and others. It tells how thousands of young girls are lured from their homes annually and sold into a life of shame. The Cincinnatti Inquirer says "Of all the books of the season the War on the White Slave Trade is the most helpful; it should be read by every man, woman and child." Agents are making from $8 to $17 a day selling this book. Over 500 pages. Many pictures. Price $1.50. Best terms to agents. Outfit free. Send 15c for forwarding charges.
